DETAILED ACTION

This action is in response to applicant's response filed on 6/17/05. Claims 1-39 are now pending in the application.

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The references listed in the information disclosure statements submitted on 9/10/02 has been considered by the examiner (see attached PTO-1449).

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election with traverse of group I (claims 1, 11, 21, 21, 38-39) in the reply filed on 6/17/05 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the restriction does not show "separate classification, status or field of search". This is not found persuasive because

- I. Claims 1, 11, 21, 31, 38-39 drawn to a method for recommending an item based on user's preferences under one or more environmental conditions, classified in class 705, subclasses 10, 26
- II. Claims 2-4, 12-14, 22-24 drawn to a method for recommending a radio station, or content or product based on user's preferences under one or more environmental conditions, classified in class 705, subclasses 10, 26 and class 455, subclasses 3.01+, 432.3.
- III. Claims 5-8, 15-18, 25-28, 32-35 drawn to a method for recommending an item based on different environmental conditions such as location, weather or user motion, classified in class 705, subclasses 10, 26 and class 455, subclass 456.5.

- IV. Claims 9-10, 19-20, 29-30, 36-37 drawn to a method for recommending an item based on preferences of a user profile, classified in class 705, subclasses 10, 26 and class 455, subclass 432.3.

Inventions I (claims 1, 11, 21, 21, 38-39) and II (claims 2-4, 12-14, 22-24) are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (group I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination has user preferences and environmental condition features that does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patent ability. The subcombination has separate utility such as a radio station, a content or product.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (group I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination has item recommendation and user preferences features that does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patent ability. The subcombination has separate utility such as user location, weather or user motion conditions.

Art Unit: 2685

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions I and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (group I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination has item recommendation and environmental condition features that does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patent ability. The subcombination has separate utility such as preferences of a user profile.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions II, III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as radio station, content or product while invention III has separate utility such as user location, weather or user motion, and invention IV has separate utility such as preferences of a user profile. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Groups III or IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

In summary, since the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II, III or IV, the requirement is still deemed proper (burden search) and is therefore made FINAL.

3. Claims 2-10, 12-20, 22-30, 32-37 withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 6/17/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 11, 21, 31, 38-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable by Tuzhilin (US 6,236,978) in view of Asgharzadeh et al (US Patent Number 5,590,246).

Regarding claim 1, Tuzhilin discloses a method for recommending an item to a user, comprising the steps of:

- observing preferences of said user under one or more environmental conditions (see col. 11, lines 20-29 and col. 13, lines 38-65); and
- generating a recommendation score for said item based on features of said item and said observed preferences of said user under said one or more environmental conditions (see col. 12, lines 4-24 and col. 13, lines 38-65).

Here, although Tuzhilin is silence on the recommendation score, it is noted that in order to recommend an item (i.e, perfume or restaurant) to a user, it is clear that the fuzzy logic rule based system as disclosed by Tuzhilin (see col. 5, line 1 – col. 10, line 50) would obviously derive scores for recommended items based on maximum scores in the similar way as mentioned by Asgharzadeh (see col. 2, lines 40-53). Therefore, the claimed limitation is made obvious by Tuzhilin and Asgharzadeh, for generating recommendation scores as claimed, in order to produce recommend items to a user according their highest scores.

Regarding claims 21, 38, the claim is rejected for the same reason as set forth in claim 1 above, wherein it is clear that in order to implement the fuzzy logic rule based system as disclosed by Tuzhilin, a computer readable medium is obviously, if not inherently, required in order to compute scores and generate recommended items to a user.

Regarding claims 11, 31, 39, the claim is rejected for the same reason as set forth in claim 1 above. In addition, Tuzhilin discloses the environmental characteristics (user location) for a given time as claimed (see col. 12, lines 4-25 and col. 13, lines 38-65).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
